

Satellite Radio, like the internet, is the cutting edge of technology. These high-tech enterprises must be encouraged by Government, not stifled by grumpling competitors. Where would we be if Government had suppressed the automobile because of lobbying by horse dealers and carriage-makers?

The US is under attack around the world; we cannot afford to be short-sighted in limiting the growth of our technology.

The marketplace is where ideas like broadcast vs satellite should compete, not before government committees!